CHURCH PENSION GROUP CONVENES A NEW CLIENT COUNCIL

NEW YORK, NY—May 27, 2025—The Church Pension Group (CPG), a financial services organization that serves The Episcopal Church, announced that it has convened a new class of Client Council (cpg.org/clientcouncil) members who will provide feedback on CPG's products, programs, and services.

"We approach every client interaction as an opportunity to share, listen, and learn," said Frank Armstrong, Chief Operating Officer of CPG. "Our ability to effectively serve The Episcopal Church is due in large part to our proactive approach in sharing our thoughts and ideas and soliciting feedback from our clients. The Client Council has been key to these efforts in gathering candid feedback and perspectives on our many products, programs, and services. Their insights have proven invaluable over the years, and we look forward to learning from another group of Client Council members."

The new 28-member Client Council will serve through 2027. The Client Council was first established in 2015 and consists of lay leaders and administrators, bishops, priests, and deacons—active and retired—from around the Church. It meets as a group annually, convening in smaller groups as needed, to help CPG vet new policies, programs, and practices.

About the Church Pension Group
